

Media Policy

April 1, 2026

While recognizing that our research and related offerings are for the benefit of subscribing clients and not other constituents, ISS STOXX believes it is appropriate to provide certain reports to credentialed journalists, but only upon written request, in instances where we believe the public may benefit from the information and in keeping with ISS STOXX's commitment to transparency.

Shareholder meeting research and voting recommendations provided to media outlets will solely be for that under ISS STOXX's Benchmark voting policy and will be subject to disclaimers and/or qualifications or limitations on use. ISS STOXX does not issue press releases with respect to its shareholder meeting research and voting recommendations. Shareholder meeting research and voting recommendations will not be made available to the media prior to its dissemination to ISS STOXX clients, and ISS STOXX staff will generally not comment on company-specific situations in advance of a shareholder meeting. When provided, shareholder meeting research and voting recommendations are provided as a courtesy, and ISS STOXX reserves the right to withhold the provision of its research and related information for any reason.

Any redistribution of ISS STOXX research or data is expressly prohibited without the prior written consent of ISS STOXX. Permission to copy and reproduce content may be granted by ISS STOXX, at its discretion, and by written request only.

ISS STOXX reserves the right to interpret and apply this Media Policy for shareholder meeting research and voting recommendations and other reports/analyses as it sees fit, as well as to amend or alter the policy at its discretion.
